Dear Mr. Casey:

STAT Upon the suggestion of our mutual friend, [redacted] I am writing to invite your participation as a keynote speaker at an upcoming symposium, "Export Controls: Building Reasonable Commercial Ties with Political Adversaries," that our National Center for Export-Import Studies is holding. The conference is to be on June 22, 1983 at the Organization of American States here in Washington.

The primary focus of the meeting will be on the export control issues raised by the U.S. sanctions taken against suppliers of the Soviet pipeline project and on the development of a consistent, successful, and bearable export control policy. Other speakers will include persons from the policy and business communities, who have been directly involved with these issues, as well as some of our Center Fellows conducting research on the political, legal, and economic ramifications of export controls.

I am hopeful that you can see the benefits to the Washington business and political communities of examining these important international trade issues and I look forward to hearing from you as soon as possible regarding your willingness and ability to speak at this conference. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to call me at (202) 625-4797.

Sincerely,

cc.: [redacted]
